HOMES FOR CONTEMPORARY LIFESTYLES

Nagy Design had to work with a few specific requirements when designing and building this outstanding contemporary home. Not only did the contemporary design have to adhere to strict covenants on the estate, the client had specific desires for their home that they wanted achieved.

Along with plenty of natural light as well as a unique look to complement the surroundings, the owners wanted a private low maintenance home with five bedrooms, three car spots and a large deck area. Virtually all the materials used within the home are maintenance free, from glass and stainless steel to the impressive stone rendering. Privacy was achieved by the cantilevered angled screen wall which shields car headlights from the master bedroom.

Its solid contemporary presence skilfully aligns with the contemporary estate's strict covenant, with materials and elements drawn from the surroundings. The interesting use of an articulated glass façade and balustrade, broken up with stainless steel and anodised aluminium is a stand out feature of the property.

The amazing views, which the design utilises, are another feature that make the home highly desirable. The views over the Dandenongs are utilised by all the living areas without sacrificing privacy. A strong, controlled relationship was also achieved between the kitchen and living areas.
